Catarrh
IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.
"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.
"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

PHELAN WANTS TO FIGHT

He Requests Satisfaction of Editor John W. Fleming.

A CONGRESSMAN'S CHALLENGE.

A Newspaper Controversy Which Stirred Up Bad Blood in Tennessee—The Editor Refuses to Fight and Vigorously Scores His Would-be Opponent in His Paper.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 9.—Col. John M. Fleming, editor of The Knoxville Daily Sentinel, has received a challenge from James Phelan, owner of The Memphis Daily Avalanche, and representative in congress from the Tenth district of Tennessee. Editor Fleming has refused to accept the challenge, and exactly what further steps, if any, Congressman Phelan may take are not known. Editor Fleming instead of sending his acknowledgment of the receipt of the communication by wire, by which agency it was transmitted to him, published it in The Sentinel, and it is the principal theme of conversation. Mr. Phelan's challenge came by telegraph from Washington last Sunday, and was as follows:

The Challenge.

WASHINGTON, April 6.
To John M. Fleming, Knoxville, Tenn.:
When I wrote you from Aiken I had not seen your letter to The Memphis Commercial. You are a liar, a coward and a scoundrel. I will await your message here and come to Knoxville to arrange preliminaries. JAMES PHELAN.

Editor Fleming's Reply.

Editor Fleming wrote his reply, which appeared in The Sentinel last evening. He asks Congressman Phelan to consider in what a grotesque position he has placed himself, and then says:

"You hold a seat in congress from a district of Tennessee. You have assumed to become a teacher of the children of the state, as a historian in the public schools. You ought to know, and are presumed to know, the constitutional and legal penalties against giving and sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel. You ought ... know that in almost every possible aspect of the business it is a felony, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary.

"Your telegram to me, if it means anything more than mad raving, is a challenge by construction and in contemplation. The interpretation most charitable to you is that the message you would await from me would be agreement on my part to join you in arrangement in the 'preliminaries,' otherwise why should you have contemplated coming to Knoxville to arrange preliminaries?"

Not Worthy of Being Challenged.

Assuring Congressman Phelan that there is no evasion desired in the matter, Editor Fleming says in the course of his reply: "I would insist that you had better 'explain' yourself. You begin with coarse denunciations, which, if true, and you are stopped from denying them, would exclude me from recognition by a gentleman, and therefore not worthy, by your own charges, of being challenged. Furthermore, my observation has usually been that the denunciation follows the refusal to accept a challenge. Inasmuch as I had proven you guilty of what in retaliation you charge upon me, I am inclined to think the authorities in the duello would tell you it was your duty to have demanded the satisfaction usual among gentlemen. I merely call your attention to those points to show how ridiculous you have made yourself even as a pretended duelist.

His Opinion of the Duel.

"But I take no advantage of even this. In times past the men who have especially commanded my admiration were those who had the courage to treat with contempt the demand of the duelist, while recognizing and insisting upon the right of self defense. I would have been surprised recently to find that you had lived with so little learning as not to have known that the barbarous role in which you have seen fit to display yourself no longer serves to give respectability among even that weaker class that once thought it 'chivalrous' to make even a bloodless exhibition of meek courage on the so called field of honor.

A Spoiled Boy.

"I have treated your warlike message as seriously as its ludicrous character permitted. Indeed, I am pretty well persuaded that you have been a spoiled boy flattered into a delusive assumption of some sort of personal superiority, a misfortune which oftentimes follows too little spanking and too much petting. It requires sometimes a rude backset or two to take the starch out of self-conceit. We have no preliminaries to arrange, Mr. Phelan. JOHN M. FLEMING."

The Congressman's Story.

Congressman Phelan is one of the youngest members of the house, and a popular gentleman. Editor Fleming is about twenty years the senior of Congressman Phelan, and has long been engaged in journalism. He is well known, and was at one time state superintendent of public instruction. The congressman's side of the story is as follows:

About three years ago M. Phelan published, through Houghton, Mifflin & Co., a school history of Tennessee, having before that published a history of the state in the "Commonwealth" series. For this work Mr. Phelan expended years of labor and several thousand dollars in the collection of data. While the first work was in press Phelan received a letter from Fleming asking for advanced sheets of the book, in which he professed to feel great interest, and complimenting Phelan on the work. Mr. Phelan replied, stating that he had no advance sheets. When the book appeared Fleming reviewed it savagely in his paper, and, not content with criticising the book, personally attacked its author. The newspaper quarrel which ensued caused the issuance of the challenge.

Divulged by a Dying Man.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 9.—John Gregory, a miner living a few miles from here, is on his death bed. While delirious he told the story of a terrible murder committed twenty years ago. A miner by the name of Keating mysteriously disappeared at the time referred to and no trace of him could be found. The story now told by the dying man is that Keating was met on his way home and was murdered and his body thrown into a well on Gregory's lot and the well filled with sand. Gregory implicates a man who still lives near here. The well was visited and was found to be full of sand. A further investigation will be made.

They Joined the United Miners.

TYRONE, Pa., April 9.—Three thousand miners in the Houtzdale district have agreed to join the United Miners' association in a body. They assessed themselves two cents per ton per month a man for the purpose of creating a national defense fund, maintaining one national organization. At Phillipsburg 2,500 men met in mass meeting and took the same action. The per capita tax collected from the miners will amount to $125,000 annually. The first action of the new organization will be the introduction of a uniform wage scale for dead work, which if adopted, means a material increase in the cost of coal to many operators.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

Condensed Report of Proceedings in the Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The house after transacting the usual amount of routine morning business resumed consideration of the Idaho admission bill.

The bill was passed—yeas, 129; nays, 1, the Democrats refraining from voting, and the speaker counted a quorum.

The Democrats say that they intend to make this a test case and to have the courts pass upon the constitutionality of the rules allowing the speaker to count a quorum. It had been intended to make one of the contested election cases a test case; but as this could be done only by a suit for salary brought in the court of claims this course was abandoned and the present action decided upon.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—In the house Mr. Morrill (Kan.) moved to suspend the rules and pass (with a substitute) the senate bill granting pensions to soldiers and sailors who are incapacitated from the performance of labor and providing for pensions to widows, minor children and dependent parents. Mr. Springer (Ills.) demanded a second, and the motion was seconded—128 to 57. Mr. Morrill briefly explained that the substitute provided a service pension of $8 a month to soldiers who have reached the age of 62 years or who are dependent. It was estimated that the senate bill would require an annual expenditure of $56,000,000 and the house substitute would require $39,000,000.

Mr. Springer offered the objection that the soldiers were not asking for this measure. They wanted a service pension bill. If this bill passed congress would have no opportunity to pass a service pension bill.

Mr. Tarsney (Mo.) said the soldiers were tired of indiscriminate legislation which placed the skulking coward on a level with the brave man. Mr. Martin (Ind.) suggested that the bill was called up today in order to prevent the offering of amendments in behalf of the soldiers. He would vote for the motion reluctantly, because he believed that it was a breaking of the promises made to the soldiers of the country. Mr. Yoder (O.) said on Friday he had sent a request to the speaker asking for recognition Monday in order to put on its passage, after four hours, the service pension bill. He had a response to that request in the present star chamber proceeding. The Republicans might gag the house but they could not gag the soldiers of the country.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—In the senate the house amendment to the joint resolution for the removal of the naval magazine from Ellis Island, N. Y., was concurred in. Mr. Evarts presented resolutions of the New York Chamber of Commerce protesting against the pending bill for a census enumeration of the Chinese. A memorial on the same subject from the American Missionary association was presented by Mr. Dawes. Discussion of the Montana election contest was then resumed, and Mr. Vance spoke in favor of the minority report declaring Clark and Maginness, the Democratic claimants, entitled to the seats.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—In the senate the anti-trust bill was taken up.

Mr. Sherman said that while the bill was not all that he wanted he believed that it was the best that could be got, and he would vote for it as it stood. The bill passed as it came from the committee. The senate then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—In the house Mr. McAdoo (N. J.), from the committee on naval affairs, called up the bill to prevent the enlistment of aliens in the navy of the United States. The bill was then passed.

Mr. Adams (Ills.) called up the motion to reconsider the vote by which the house defeated the bill making appropriation to supply the deficiency caused by the Silcott defalcation. In support of the motion, Mr. Payson reviewed the decision in the Crain case in the court of claims. The secretary of the treasury had authorized him to say that his department would not appeal from the decision. A motion of Mr. Holman (Ind.) to table the motion of Mr. Adams was lost, and the vote was reconsidered and the bill passed.

Teller and Securities Missing.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 9.—It was discovered last evening that Frederick Kimball, teller of the People's Savings bank of this city, who went away on Wednesday last on a short vacation for his health, took away with him about $50,000 in first class securities belonging to the bank. It is not yet known whether Kimball is also a defaulter, as the bank examiner only arrived in the city last evening. A letter has just been received by Mrs. Kimball from Montreal, which had been sent by Kimball to the postmaster at Montreal to be remailed by him to Worcester. The postmaster indorsed this fact on the envelope, thus spoiling Kimball's scheme to obtain a good start on the officers, who are on his track. Kimball is a popular young man, an athlete and dog fancier, his St. Bernard dogs taking prizes at all dog shows. He leaves behind him a wife and young children.

The Buffalo Counterfeiters Held.

BUFFALO, April 9.—The examination of Charles McCran, Edward Sylvester and Henry L. ne, the three counterfeiters who were run down by Reporter Newton last week, was held before United States Commissioner Hirshbeck. After a brief hearing, in which some damaging testimony was given, Commissioner Hirshbeck held McCran, Sylvester, his wife, and Lane in $3,000 bail to appear for trial at Rochester and committed the three men to jail in default of bail. He allowed Mrs. Sylvester to go on her own recognizance.

Secretary Windom's Appointments.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Secretary Windom has made the following appointments: Deputy collectors of customs, at Rouses Point, Charles H. Hill; at Fair Haven, James Byer; at Port Ontario, R. D. Eide; at Oswego, N. Y., E. A. Waugh and D. J. Wilson. Inspectors of customs at Oswego, N. Y., John Leets, M. H. Dinnan, A. T. Campbell, Frank Winchell, George Glynn and John H. Summerville. Navigation inspectors at Oswego, N. Y., Joseph H. Worden, Bryson P. Schiets and W. H. Chancey.

Gone and $30,000 Short.

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—A special to The Ledger from Doylestown, Pa., says James Monroe Shellenberger, one of the best known men in Bucks county, has disappeared and that he is about $30,000 short in his accounts with various estates of which he had charge. He was last heard of at Atlantic City on Sunday. Mr. Shellenberger was a member of the state board of charities and chairman of the county Democratic standing committee.

Mayor Cleveland Re-Elected.

JERSEY CITY, April 9.—The municipal election, like the campaign that preceded it, was marked by great excitement. The vote is close. According to the best estimates Mayor Orestes Cleveland (Dem.) has been re-elected by over 2,600 majority over George F. Perkins (Rep.). The Republicans gain three aldermen, with a chance of two more.

GEN. CROOK'S SUCCESSOR.

Brig. Gen. Nelson A. Miles the Man. Other Appointments.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The president has nominated Brig. Gen. Nelson A. Miles to be major general. Col. Benjamin H. Grierson, Tenth cavalry, was nominated to be brigadier general. Nelson A. Miles was born at Wachusettsville, Mass., Aug. 8, 1839. He enlisted as captain of the Twenty-second Massachusetts Volunteer infantry in October, 1861. His first act of distinction was in the battle of Fair Oaks, where he was ordered to take command of the Eighty-first Pennsylvania volunteers, the colonel of that regiment having been killed. He acquitted himself so well that he was made lieutenant colonel of the Sixty-first New York volunteers on May 31, 1862. He was appointed colonel in 1862 and commanded the regiment at Fredericksburg. He was severly wounded at Chancellorsville. He was made brigadier general on May 12, 1864, and distinguished himself in the Richmond campaign. He was made a colonel in the regular army in 1866, and in 1869 was transferred to the command of the Fifth infantry. While colonel of the latter regiment he conducted a successful campaign against the Cheyennes and Comanches in 1874.

After Custer's defeat in Montana he was ordered to the scene of action at his own request. After four years he subdued the Sioux and captured the Nez Perces. For this he was made brigadier general in 1880 and assigned to the department of Columbia. He was assigned to the department of the Missouri in 1885 and later to the department of Arizona to succeed Gen. Crook. His campaign ended in the capture of Geronimo, the crafty and cruel Apache chief. The general is related by marriage to Gen. and Senator Sherman, and to Senator Don Cameron, of Pennsylvania.

Gen. Lewis A. Grant, of Minnesota, has been nominated to be assistant secretary of war. Gen. Grant is a resident of Minneapolis. He was born at Winhall, Vt., Jan. 17, 1829. He entered the service in 1861 as major and was successively made lieutenant colonel, brigadier general and was finally brevitted major general for "gallant and meritorious service" before Richmond. Secretary Proctor was major in the regiment of which Grant was colonel, and the men were friends before the war and comrades during it.

Robert Mills, of New York, has been appointed surveyor of customs for the port of Patchogue, N. Y.

The president has also appointed the following postmasters: New Jersey—William R. Singleton, Toms River. New York—G. L. Waldron, Hamilton; L. H. Quackenbush, Warwick; H. L. Burrill, Weedsport. Pennsylvania—Miss Kate M. Scott, Brookville; A. S. Bonbrake, Waynesborough.

KEYSTONE STATE NEWS.

Items Which Are of Particular Interest to Pennsylvanians.

IN THIS AND NEARBY COUNTIES.

Brief Mention of Matters Which Everybody Should Know About—A Week's Accidents and Crimes Accurately and Concisely Chronicled.

PITTSBURG, April 2.—The Pittsburg National League club Monday night offered First Baseman Jake Beckley, the captain of the team, a salary of $4,300 a year for three years and $5,000 cash to play with the club. Beckley refused the offer.

Blown to Pieces.

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—An explosion occurred this morning at the Metallic Cap works at Bethayres, on the Bound Brook railroad. One man was killed, his body being blown to pieces. Houses were shaken and glass broken in windows at Somerton, four miles distant from the scene of the explosion.

Fatal Mine Explosion.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 3.—By an explosion of gas in No. 4 slope of the Susquehanna Coal company at Nanticoke three men were instantly killed, four seriously injured and two slightly injured. The killed are James Adams, William A. James and Anthony Roseman. The seriously injured are Morgan Price, John Marshall, John J. Griffith and Joseph D. Lansbey, and the slightly injured are Joseph Noforaki and George Elmy. A naked lamp is supposed to have ignited the gas. The mine was not damaged.

Lewis S. Cox Wanted.

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Lewis S. Cox, the Chestnut street merchant who failed some time ago. The warrant is sworn out by W. M. Singerly, who holds Cox's notes to the amount of $95,000. Cox has left the jurisdiction of the Philadelphia courts, and is believed to be in New York.

His Heirs Must Lead Godly Lives.

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—The will of the late Jeremiah Loof has just been probated. It is a peculiar document. Eighty thousand dollars is left in trust for his family, provided they shall lead godly lives, avoid the use of tobacco and liquor in any form, including cider.

The Reading Fight Ended.

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—The fight against President Corbin, of the Reading railroad, has been amicably ended. Mr. Corbin consented to the request of the discontented shareholders for a representation in the board of managers. Messrs. Thomas Dolan and Henry C. Gibson were proposed as the new members, and Mr. Corbin promised that they should be elected at the meeting next Wednesday it is thought that Messrs. Cockran and Antelo will retire to make room for Messrs. Dolan and Gibson. Trustee Walsh says the settlement was made because the contest had injured the credit of the company, and it was deemed good policy to make all interests identical. A representative of the party which has been arrayed against Mr. Corbin said that more had been achieved by the settlement than the people engaged in the struggle had ever hoped to accomplish. The policy will be changed at once, and hereafter the entire property will be managed solely in the interests of the company.

The Pennsylvania Colliery to Resume.

MT. CARMEL, Pa., April 8.—Orders for the resumption of work at the Pennsylvania colliery have been issued. The 1,000 miners who have been idle since Jan. 1 are rejoiced at the good news.

Ex-Governor Pollock Ill.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., April 3.—Ex-Governor James Pollock is ill at the home of his son-in-law, H. T. Harney, in this city, and on account of his age much solicitude is felt.

A Shoplifter's Odd Scheme.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—A woman giving the name of Rebecca Shipley and her residence as Staunton, Va., has been arrested here for shoplifting. She claimed that she had taken the goods merely to see if she could do so without being detected. She had read in the papers many romantic stories concerning shoplifters, and she thought she would try her own hand at it. She said she had been stealing from numerous stores for a week or so, and had all of the goods in her room with the price marks undisturbed. Her intention was to give a supper at her hotel, to which she would invite the superintendents and head ladies of the different stores from which she had pilfered, and would return to them the stolen property. The woman was committed to the county prison pending an investigation as to her sanity.

Unfortunate Farmers.

LANCASTER, Pa., April 4.—Benjamin L. Gamber, a farmer, of Manor township, has failed; liabilities $30,000. Two other farmers, Jacob H. Hostetter, of Manor, and Daniel E. Peifer, of East Hempfield, have also failed; liabilities $43,000 and $15,000 respectively.

The Pilgrim's Sister Launched.

CHESTER, Pa., April 4.—The palatial side wheel steamer Plymouth, built for the Old Colony Steamship company, has been successfully launched from Roach's shipyard. The vessel is said to be fully equal, if not superior, to her sister ships, the Puritan and Pilgrim.

Mine Workers' Meet.

PITTSBURG, April 4.—The executive board of the United Mine workers' of America met here for the purpose of deciding on the policy of the new organization. The session lasted all the afternoon and was secret. One of the principal matters discussed was the relations to be held by the new organization towards other labor organizations. It was decided to work for a reduction of the hours of labor in lines laid down by other organizations.

Killed by a Drunken Negro.

PITTSBURG, April 7.—John O'Hara, aged 18 years, was shot dead at 11 o'clock Saturday night by a colored man yet unknown, and Martin Fahey was shot in the shoulder by the same man. A crowd of five colored men, intoxicated, were walking on Fifth avenue pushing people off the sidewalk as they went along. One of the men pushed a lady in the gutter, when a gentleman interfered with the colored men. During the conversation which followed young O'Hara stepped out, when the negro hit him in the forehead, knocking him down, and then pulled out a revolver and shot him through the heart. He then fired two more shots, one of which struck Fahey, another onlooker, in the shoulder. The five colored men then escaped. The police are searching for the men, but have thus far failed to make an arrest.

An Alleged Mail Robber Arrested.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 8.—United States Detective John O'Brien has arrived here and lodged in jail one Jogge Thomas, a young man charged with breaking into the postoffice at Nicholson, Pa., and rifling certain letters. The officer will proceed with his prisoner to Allegheny.

A bill was reported favorably to the house of representatives to re-examine and pay Pennsylvania's claims for money spent in 1864 for militia called into service under the president's proclamation.

At Brockville, near Lambertville, N. J., a 9-year-old daughter of Robert Lockerly, who was carrying her 2-year-old sister, stumbled and fell into the canal and both were drowned.

Marcus C. Stearns, the old resident of Chicago who attempted suicide Saturday morning by shooting himself, is dead.

James H. Lounsberry, aged 80 years, one of the oldest carpet dealers in New York state, died at Rondout, N. Y., April 8. He was for sixteen years in charge of the carpet department of Stewart's wholesale house in New York city.

The annual meeting of the Connecticut Republican league was held at Hartford, April 8. About thirty members were present. Edward L. Lindsley, of New Haven, was elected president.

Seigneur Quintal, a heretofore highly respected Montreal man, is said to have eloped with another man's wife, taking with him a large sum of money which, it is said, did not belong to him.

The impression prevails that the great Chicago carpenters' strike will be compromised this week, as the loss on account of it amounts to many thousands of dollars a day to bosses, workmen and owners.

In the argument before the general term of the supreme court for a stay of execution for ex-Sheriff Flack and his son, their counsel assailed the charge Judge Barrett made to the jury. The case was taken under advisement and may not be decided for a week.

Hon. James H. Manning was elected mayor of Albany, N. Y., by a majority of 7,245, his opponent, H. N. Fuller, the Republican candidate, polling but 6,422 votes. The Democrats elect seventeen aldermen, the Republicans two. The Democrats elect sixteen out of seventeen supervisors in the city.

At the election in Lockport, N. Y., James S. Liddle (Dem.) was elected mayor by 145 majority. The town elected Republican supervisors.

The barbarous murder of Helena Montana, a disreputable woman, at Heberathal, near Aix-la-Chapelle, has created great excitement. The woman was killed in some mysterious manner in the open street, under the eyes of the passersby. The body was disemboweled and otherwise mutilated in the fashion of Jack the

The Columbian.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, APRIL 11th, 1890.

There is discontent all along the republican line. The masses of the party are on the point of open revolt at the action of the bosses in forcing Delamater upon them as nominee for governor. It is apparent that Delamater is to be nominated notwithstanding the grave charges a gainst him by Lewis Emery, a prominent republican. In the Columbia County convention Delamater was spoken of as "The Standard Oil Company's man." But nevertheless, when the time comes to vote, these kickers will walk up to the polls like little men, and vote for "Delamater and the whole ticket." Watch and see.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our regular correspondent.]

Washington. D. C. April 7, 1890.

Mr. Blaine's pet scheme of trade reciprocity with the South and Central America States has been prematurely made public in order to silence opposition to the new tariff bill. New England Congressmen are promised reciprocity with the Argentine Republic which would mean free wool as an offset to the objectionable features of the tariff bill, and in that way some of the opposition, though by no means all of it, has been quieted Republicans in the House say that they will offer amendments to the bill putting hides, sugar and tin plate on the free list. The bill is now before the full ways and Means committee and will not probably be reported to the House before next week.

It is a noticeable fact that Boss Quay has not favored Mr. Harrison with a visit since his return to this city but then his time has been so fully occupied with whipping Senators into doing his bidding and in running the state politics of Pennsylvania that he probably hasn't had time.

Speaker Reed brought his Czaric powers into requisition again when the vote was taken in the House on the bill for the admission of Idaho by counting enough non-voting democrats to make a quorum and pass the bill. It is stated that the democrats refrained from voting to give him a chance to do that very thing, it having been concluded that the admission of a Territory would make a better subject for a case to be taken to the United States Supreme Court than the unseating of a member.

Gen. Lewis A. Grant, of Minnesota, has been appointed to the recently created office of Assistant Secretary of War.

The Pan-American Congress is being worked for all it is worth to manufacture republican campaign thunder, and in return the administration is making things very pleasant for the foreign members of that organization. Next Friday there will be a review of the local militia and of all the regular army stationed here, which was ordered by Secretary Proctor for the special amusement of these gentlemen.

The republicans do not prop so giving up control of the House without a bitter struggle, and as an aid in the fight they have decided that the anti-gerry mandering bill which provides that Representatives of the Fifty-second Congress shall be elected from districts with the same boundaries as those from which Representatives to the present Congress were elected, must be passed. The committee having this bill in charge has by a strict party vote decided to favorably report the bill. The democrats will make a minority report against the measure.

Senator Hoar has been instructed by the Senate committee on Elections to draw up a mild sort of an Federal election bill. It will have to be very mild indeed to stand any chance of ever becoming a law by the vote of the present Congress.

A sensation was created on the floor of the House Friday by a few remarks made by Representative Stone, of Missouri, while a batch of private pension legislation was despoiling the people under the name of patriotism, and denounced the demands of the G. A. R. He also stated that at the last election the Presidency had been put up and sold to the highest bidder. "Thank God", continued Mr. Stone, "there was one grand man who declined to be a party to such a sale. Though he fell, he fell bearing the reputation of wise and incorruptible statesmanship, and enjoying the respect of every honest citizen. (Uproarious applause on democratic side) Benjamin Harrison attained his present office by cash raised by Wanamaker and disbursed by Dudley".

The republican managers here are very uneasy over the outlook in Iowa and Wisconsin. One of them expressed his feelings by saying: "We can,t admit new republican states as fast as the old ones are getting away from us".

Senator Hiscock, chairman of the Senate Committee in charge of the World's Fair bill does not appear to be very favorably inclined towards Chicago. Only one meeting of the committee has yet been held. Another is called for this week At that rate of speed it will be a month before the bill is reported to the Senate.

There does not seem to be any serious intention of trying the two Virginia republicans recently arrested here for soliciting campaign contributions from office holders. The case was set for Saturday, but was postponed until next Wednesday, the judge remarking in a stage whisper to the prosecuting attorney: "Might as well postpone it indefinitely".

The Montana fraud will be consumated this week in the Senate if the republican kickers can be coaxed into line or got out of the way when the vote is taken.

Bloodhounds to Locate Dead Bodies.

There have been so many lives lost by falling of walls in this country during the past few months that firemen have been exercising their ingenuity in devising a method of discovering the whereabouts of the victim without loss of time. It is stated that in Paris bloodhounds are used for this purpose. The animal's feet are protected from injury by a mixture of soot, vinegar and borax, the latter being the principal ingredient; and thus he is able to pursue his search in safety among hot ashes. The utilization of the services of a dog gives one a new idea of his value, and the fact that a bloodhound, instead of being employed to track living human beings, is used to discover the remains of dead ones, is suggestive of the progress the world has made in humanity.

William A. Wallace has announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor. He is one of the best organizers in the state, and if nominated will make an active campaign.

The Mine Still on Fire.

ANOTHER EXPLOSION IN THE FATAL WILKESBARRE SHAFT.

WILKESBARRE, April 5. The South Wilkes-barre shaft which, about three weeks ago, was the death trap of the men whose bodies are not yet recovered, is again on fire. A tunnel in the mine was set on fire by gas, and the men mentioned were probably burned to death. The mine was flooded, the process occupying several days. Water was allowed to stand in the mine a week, when the pumping out began. After the water was exhausted, exploring parties entered the mine, but were driven out by the stench from a dead mule without reaching the place where the bodies are supposed to be. The efforts were repeated several times, but with no success.

To-day it was discovered that the fire had only been smouldering, and air-currents being established set the tunnel in a blaze again. Much gas had accumulated and there have been several violent explosions this morning. A party of explorers to-day were stopped in their progress by a large fall of roof, and this prevented what would have resulted in another calamity, for the explosion of gas came on the other side of the fall, the party escaping by the protection mentioned. They got out as quickly as possible. The party included several relatives of the men killed in the disaster of three weeks ago, and they were searching for the bodies of the victims. Preparations were immediately made for flooding the mine again, and this work has now begun. This prevents any prospect of the mine being worked for some time.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

BRIGGS' HEADACHE - TROCHES

—FOR—

—IN ITS—

Nervous, Bilious, or congestive Forms.

This remedy is the perscription of one of the leading physicians of Paris, France, and was used by him with unparalleled success for over thirty years, it was first given to the public as a proprietary medicine in 1838 Since which time it has found its way into almost every county on the face of the globe, and become a favorite remedy with thousands of the leading physicians. Medical societies have discussed its marvelous success at their annual conventions, and their chemists have analyzed it and found that it contained no opiates, bromides or other harmful ingredients placed it among their standard remedies.

At the commencement of Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia, last week, Thomas Curry of Ashland was among the graduates. He is a nephew of D. F. Curry of Centralia, and a young man of pleasing address, and unusual ability. His popularity with his class-mates was shown by his selection as class orator, and it fell to his lot to make the presentation speech to the trustees of a portrait of Dr. S. H. Gross to the college by the class. His speech was a masterly effort, and was published in full in some of the city papers. We predict for Dr. Curry a brilliant career.

On Monday morning Judge Ikeler filed an opinion refusing a new trial in the case of John W. Hoffman against the Bloomsburg & Sullivan R. R. Co. The verdict of the jury gave the plaintiff $4500. The reasons assigned for a new trial were (1) that the verdict was excessive, (2) that the verdict was against the weight and preponderance of the evidence, (3) that the jury was misled by plaintiff's counsel by the use of an unproved hydraulic instrument to contradict a witness, (4) that the damage should be paid in stock of the company, as per written agreement. After a lengthy review of these reasons the court refused a new trial.

The Easter Services at the Lutheran church Sunday last, were the best ever held in that church. In the Sabbath School five additional musical instruments were used to render the selections for the occasion. A beautiful design was placed upon the blackboard; (the work of T. L. Gunton), a cross overspread with white lilies, it was a beautiful piece of work and very appropriate. At the services in the Auditorium, thirty-three were received into the church—7 by baptism, 14 by confirmation and 12 from other congregations. The attendance at the communion was the largest for many years The benevolence offering was for church extension, to which there was a very liberal response.

"Why need it be?" we say, and sigh
When loving mothers fade and die,
And leave the little ones whose feet
They hoped to guide in pathways sweet.
It need not be in many cases. All about us women are dying daily whose lives might have been saved. It seems to be a widespread opinion that when a woman is slowly fading away with the diseases which grow out of female weaknesses and irregularities that there is no help for her. She is doomed to death. But this is not true. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is constantly restoring women afflicted with diseases of this class to health and happiness. It is the only medicine for these ailments, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded.

A bill in equity was filed in court on Monday by the Roaringcreek Water Company against W. G. Girton, Jesse Rittenhouse and Ezra Stephens, Commissioners of Columbia County, and Geo. A. Herring, Treasurer, asking for an injunction to restrain the defendants from selling certain tracts of land belonging to the plaintiff, at Treasurer's sale for the payment of taxes. The bill sets forth that the plaintiff company was incorporated in 1874 for the purpose of erecting water works on Roaringcreek to supply the Borough of Shamokin with water, and that they have expended $174 000 in purchasing property and erecting reservoirs, laying pipes, &c., and for purpose of preventing contamination of the water, they have purchased tracts of land along said stream, amounting to about 855 acres, unproductive and affording little or no timber. That said lands have been advertised by the Treasurer for sale on June 9th, for taxes, and that the plaintiff is not legally liable to pay said taxes. Col. Freeze represents the plaintiff, and Mr. Zarr the defendants. This case involves an interesting question.

Six applications for appointment to the office of Director of Bloom Poor District to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of L. M. Pettit were filed in court on Monday. The applicants were Dr. F. W. Redeker, Geo. W. Kelchner, B. F. Reighard, Jacob Girard, A. C. Hidlay, and Stephen Pettit. Judge Ikeler said that so far as he was concerned he should endeavor to induce the associates to make the appointment, and read in support of his position, from the speech of Chief Justice Paxson made at the banquet in New York at the U. S Supreme Court Centennial, in which he deprecates the practice of the legislatures in giving to the courts the appointment of petty political officials. Judge Paxson theory may be correct, but the laws as they stand now require the courts to appoint certain officials and they must assume all the responsibility that the law places upon them. When the associates agree no difficulty arises, but when they disagree the law judge must cast the deciding vote.

We have received the fifth annual report of the Tungchowfu Dispensary, in charge of the American Presbyterian Mission, at Tungchowfu, China. Dr. James B. Neal is the physician in charge. In his report the Doctor says:

The past year—1889—has been one of continuous work at the Tungchowfu Dispensary, and in many respects has been the most satisfactory one in an experience of five years. Owing to the class of medical students having been in training two years, I was able, when called away to the famine region early in the spring, to leave the medical work in charge of one of them for the three months of my absence, so that the dispensary has been open more days than any years previously, and the attendance of out-patients in the aggregate by several hundred than ever before. The total attendance of dispensary patients during the twelve months was 4,227, the number of days during which patients were seen was 302, giving an average of 14 per day. Of these 4,227 visits, 1,592 were paid by persons who had never received treatment at the dispensary before, the balance being second visits. In addition to the home work, 931 visits were received from patients in the famine region where, during about a month, a temporary dispensary was carried on by the students, who were with me engaged in famine relief work. This makes the total for the whole year 5,158. During the summer and before going on his autumn itinerating trip, Rev. Dr. Mills came to the dispensary nearly every day to talk to the patients. Some among the in-patients have seemed somewhat interested in what has been said to them in a religious way, but no fruit has yet been gathered from the five years' medical work in Tungchowfu. We cannot but hope, however, that some seed has been sown that sooner or later will spring up and yield some harvest. Once during the autumn a man, who had been treated in hospital last year, came back from his home, over a hundred miles away, to buy a testament, and I found on talking with him that he had been studying and inquiring at home, so that I felt encouraged to hope that he might soon come to a knowledge of the truth.

John Herring.

John Herring was born in Lynn Twp, Northampton Co. Pa., Dec. 18, 1804. He was the second son of Ludwig Herring whose father, Christopher, with his whole family, immigrated to this country from Germany. Being of the peasantry of that country the head of the house had no means with which to pay the expenses of the long and tiresome ocean voyage of that day, and according to the common custom then existing, when the passengers were landed at Phila. their services were put up and struck down to the highest bidder. The money paid for these services went to the ship owners as the price of their passage. The passengers became then regularly indented servants for a definite period. Among them was Christopher Herring and family who were bound out to different masters and consequently became widely separated; some never afterward being heard of by others Three of the children growing into manhood enlisted in the Revolutionary War, two of whom were killed in the battle of Brandywine.

Ludwig, another child, was bound to Valentine Brobst then living in what is now called Columbia Co; he served his master till he was 21 years old, then married an English women, Christian Bright by name, and moved to Northampton Co. About 1816 with a rising family he moved to Orangeville and it was here where the deceased was brought up and spent most of his life. Of John's four brothers and eleven sisters, six of whom are half-sisters, but four are living.

In 1826 John Herring married Rachel Snyder and moved into a house on Main St where they lived continuously for 54 years. His wife died May 11, 1881, having been married 54 years. Nine children were born to them, six of whom are still living—C. D. Herring of Wilkes-Barre, G. A Herring of Bloomsburg, Mrs. John Neyhard of Wilkesbarre, A. B. Herring of Orangeville, and the twins Calvin Herring of Orangeville and Elisha Herring of Kankakee, Ill. He had 45 grand children, 22 great grand children, He was a carpenter by trade and his 5 sons and 8 grandsons all followed in his wake by learning the same trade. In 1836 he recived 62½c a day which was considered big wages at thattime. For 22 years he was foreman of carpenters on the Penna, canal from Wilkes-Barre to Northumberland. When not engaged there he usually did contract work in this and neighboring counties. He served 10 years as Justice of the Peace for Orange Twp. and at the time of his death was among the oldest of its citizens. He joined the Reformed church when but 17 yrs. of age and continued a member of that religious body to the day of his death, April 4, 1890, at the home of G. A. Herring in Bloomsburg. He was 85 years, 3 mos. 18 days old when he died.

In politics he was a Democrat and was always pleased to announce that he voted first for Jackson. He was a public spirited man, always eager and zealous to promote the interests of his community. For a man of his years he was unusually rugged up to within a month of his death Since his wife's death he had been living among his children, traveling from Orangeville to Bloomsburg and from there to Wilkes-barre; and nine years ago even went to Illinois with apparent ease and comfort. It has been only a month since he first showed any sign of breaking down. Even then he did not take his bed and walked a little in the house the day of his death. On the evening of the 4th he lay down very tired and prepared as though to take a night's rest. He went to sleep at six and never again awakened. Five minutes before 8 o'clock peacefully and without a struggle his breathing became fainter and fainter until the sleep of earth merged into the sleep of death. The remains were interred at Orangeville beside his wife

FERTILIZERS.

I have been asked to tell through the COLUMBIAN how to find out, cheaply and conveniently, just what kind of fertilizer a given soil needs.

Put stakes in several places in the field, sow a small plot of fertilizer around the stake; write name of fertilizer, seed and date on stake and I think you will learn what quantity and kind of fertilizer will give the lacking element cheapest.

Mr. Tewksbury and other dealers, should suggest to manufacturers of fertilizers, to put up sample pound packages of standard potash, nitrogen, phosphoric acid, carbon dioxide, &c., to give to the farmers for testing their soil. I think it would pay as a mode of advertising. Farmers would like a change from long winded certificates to a sample of the thing itself.

An excellent soil for wheat contains in 100 pounds of soil, 28 pounds of lime, 32 of sand, 29 of clay and 11 pounds of animal and vegetable matter. It takes nearly equal parts of lime, sand and clay, and as much animal and vegetable matter as you can afford to put on. The last is what is mainly needed.

Our grandfathers raised more grain to the acre with the leafmould in it, and half covered with stump and stones, than we do now. But why raise wheat in competition with all the farmers of this country, Russia, Austria, Australia, India, Argentine Republic and only England to buy wheat? In which sign of the moon can the farmer raise hopes in growing more wheat at a profit? Better raise products we need and import by million dollars worth every year, than raise the crop that five other nations produce against us and fighting all the time to supply our markets.

Six Months Pass Away.

AND THE MURDERER OF YOUNG CHARLES HANE IS STILL AT LARGE.

Six months have passed away since Charles Hane was murdered at Shamokin Dam, says the Sunbury Daily, yet the mystery surrounding the death is as dark as ever and will probably be one of the many murders which are recorded without the murderer being found. It seems strange that in a little village the size of Shamokin Dam a murder could be committed without the person or persons being found, yet such has proven to be the case. Immediately after the murder the father of the boy hired several detectives to ferret out the case, but owing to the lack of funds the detectives were soon withdrawn, not, however, before Martin Detrick had been arrested as the guilty party. He was given a hearing before Judge Bucher. Want of evidence caused his discharge. Hardly had the talk of young Detrick's arrest died away when the commissioners of Snyder county, who had before refused to give a reward, came forward and offered $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the guilty person or persons. Had this reward been offered before the detectives left for the city the offender might have been brought before justice. About two months ago Sunbury and vicinity was thrown into a wild state of excitement when it was announced that George Hane, the father of the murdered boy, had been arrested, charged with the murder of his son. An investigation, however, proved that this was not true.

Easter Day at St. Paul's.

CONTRIBUTED.

All things conspired to make a "glorious Easter" for the congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

As one entered the Church at the early eryices, the lesson of the Resurrection was impressed upon the heart.

The Altar was resplendent in its garniture of exquisite cut flowers, and the equally beautiful floral decorations of the font all told the lesson of hope and comfort.

These lovely flowers were an offering from two ladies of the congregation.

The exquisite calla lillies on the Altar were an offering from two children of the Parish, in memory of a dear little brother and sister in Paradise.

Many growing plants had been tastefully arranged by the ladies of the Altar committee, in the chancel and other parts of the church, and together with the white hangings of the Easter-tide, gave brightness to the scene.

The gentlemanly ushers seated the large congregation with prompt attention.

When the hour for the opening of the service came, the grand strains of the organ and accompanying instruments began the musical portion of the service which was mainly choral throughout.

Too much praise cannot be awarded Geo. E. Elwell for his painstaking efforts in behalf of the Easter music of St. Paul's, the results of which were so thoroughly enjoyed by those who were present at the services.

The singers deserve great commendation and thanks, and to the young men of the orchestra, R. Drinker, E. Searles and A. Cohen, who contributed so much to the success of the music, much appreciation is due.

The Rector expressed the sentiment of the large assembly when he thanked the choir for their appropriate music. The Hymn, "Christ the Lord is risen to-day," was sung to music composed by Mr. Elwell for this occasion and named "Leverett" by him for the Rector. It was fittingly rendered as was every tune and anthem.

The regular worshippers of St. Paul's felt that the solemn and impressive services of the preceding week had indeed prepared them for the joyous facts of the Easter dawn.

At the second service, 10:30 o'clock, a sermon was preached by the Rector, followed by the Holy Communion, the musical portions being rendered by the same choir as at the early service, without the orchestral accompaniment. A very large number of communicants received their Easter communion.

The offerings at both the morning services were for the missionary work of the church in the Diocese.

In the evening at 6:30 o'clock, the Sunday School held its Easter service, consisting of carols, the recitation of the Catechism, and other recitations, and the giving of the Easter offerings. These offerings were large and were given by each class as a result of earnest work during Lent. Each class had an appropriate name and motto, and as each was called by the Rector, presented in turn its offering to him.

A pleasing feature connected with the evening was the giving of their missionary boxes to the rector by several little ones of the Parish, who are still too small to attend Sunday School, but who have been collecting their pennies during Lent.

The Sunday School classes who gave the largest amount were those of Miss Mendenhall, Miss Martha Clark and Miss Hattie Sloan.

The great charm of the Sunday School service was the bright music. The organist of the School, Miss May Blue, sustained her part with much credit to herself and pleasure to the large congregation, and the children's singing pleased everyone.

Thus ended a Red Letter Day in the history of St. Paul's Parish.

A Cure for Constipation and Sick Headache.

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache in one night. For the blood liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

East Benton.

Prof. C. C. Hughes of Cambra has been prevailed upon to take charge of the Cambra Academy. The school opens Monday April 14th. About 30 students have already applied for admission. Prof. Hughes is an experienced teacher and success is assured under his tutorship. All of his predecessors have rendered general satisfaction.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered at St. James last Sunday. Several were baptised and confirmed as communicant members and several were admitted on certificate.

Mrs. William Giddings was buried in the Hamiline cemetery last Wednesday week, aged about 67 years.

Bon G. Kase moved back to his home from Jamison City last Saturday.

Quite a number of empty houses in the East end of Benton township.

An interesting session of the Teacher's Institute is expected to be held here on the 11th and 12th. State Superintendent Waller will lecture on Friday evening. Extensive arrangements have been made by the local committees to afford entertainment for the visitors. Teachers are expected from Ashland, Catawissa, Mt. Carmel, Shenandoah, Girardsville, Locust and other points.

The genial landlord, Daniel F. Curry, has at last decided to become an aspirant for office, and will enter the field as a candidate for the legislature. Dan has many friends; and will make a good run.

A recent issue of the Ashland Advocate thus speaks of one of our residents:

Captain Edward T. Reese, who is one of our most worthy citizens, was urged by his many friends to allow the use of his name in connection with the election of delegates to the Republican State Convention. Mr. Reese is a staunch follower of the g. o. p. and could easily have captured the hon. or if he so desired, but his business interests would not permit of his accepting, and he quietly withdrew from the contest. At some future time Mr. Reese may be called upon to serve his constituents by filling one of the highest public offices within the gift of the people of Columbia county, and we know of no person better qualified to assume the duties of a responsible or honorable position than the genial Captain 'Ted' Reese.

The collieries of L. A. Riley & Co. have been working pretty steady during the past six months, considering the dullness in the coal regions. The depression has been felt here, but not so much as in some other towns.

James McBrearty has purchased the Jommes three story brick building on Centre, between 8th and 9th streets in Ashland for a consideration of $6,600. The building is at present occupied by Tobias Schwartz, but when his lease expires in February next, it is likely that Mr. McBrearty will take possession and open up a restaurant.

David Hower died last week, Monday, from the effects of a boiler explosion at Logan colliery. He resided at Montana, and was a fireman. He was on duty on Sunday, and just as he was putting coal on the fires the boiler exploded. When found by his brother Hower was in great agony The dead skin was removed from his body. before medical aid arrived. Drs. Gwinner and Bieber dressed his injuries and found that he had also sustained a scalp wound. The best of care was taken of the unfortunate man and every effort exerted to alleviate his intense pain. The other victim was a Hungarian, who labored about the colliery. He sustained a few slight flesh wounds.

Hower was married on the 30th of last January to Miss Harriet Beaver, of Montana. The young widow has the kindly sympathy of all in her sad affliction.

Stylish, rich, and $10 imported to sell at $20.

Eight items that stand for half a hundred.

In all sorts of Dress Goods there are numbers of patterns and weaves that we control for this market. Of course they are among the choicest. It isn't the common run of stuff that's hard to get. One maker excels in silk weaving, another in wool, another in silk-and-wool; this printer puts marvelous pictures on cotton, that on silk, or on wool. Some of the best things can only be had in little quantities—so few weavers have the wit to make them. Here are three from the Black Goods:

1—45-inch Black All-silk Grenadine, with handsome broad sidebands, $3.

2—45-inch All-silk Twisted Grenadine for Veiling—light, thin, beautiful—just the thing for Summer riding, $2, $2.50, and $3.

3—23-inch Black Satin striped Grenadine, with rows of hemstitching, $1.25.

Not one of these elegant stuffs can be had in any other store in town.

Plenty more very desirable fabrics among the Black Goods. Half a dozen as they come:

23-inch Satin Striped Grenadine, 1, 1½, 2, 2½, 3, and 4 inch stripes, $1-25.

Plain All-silk Twisted Grenadine, $1, $2.50.

Plain Open-mesh All-silk Grenadine, 75c, $1 $1.25.

Plain Crepe de Chine, 23-inch, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 $2, $2.50; 45 inch, $4, $5, $6.

Figured and Striped All-silk Grenadines and Figured All-silk Crepe de Chine in large variety.

At the Cible counter are latest Episcopal Prayer Books and Hymnals, in sets—with appendix and all the authorized alterations; 80c to $8.50 the set.

Oxford Teachers' Bibles are $1.10 to $13.50.

Revised Version New Testament, large type.

12mo, cloth, red edges, 20c.
12mo, morocco, gilt edges, 40c.
8vo, cloth, red edges 40c.
8vo, morocco gilt edges, 50c.

You'll soon say good-bye to the Winter Blanket. Here's a Spring weight that you won't care to kick off even on the coolish Summer nights. Warm enough, but not a bit burdensome:

Single Bed, $3.50 a pair.
Double Bed, $4.50 to $5 a pair.
Extra Size, $5 and $6 a pair.

That soft finish Bleached German Damask is plenty once more. When the sales of a linen like that run into tons and tons every season it isn't always easy even for us to keep the shelves full. THE ADVANTAGES OF MACADAM.

Interesting Points Advanced by Samuel R. Downing.

At a recent meeting of the Pennsylvania State grange at Harrisburg, Worthy Past Lecturer S. R. Downing delivered an address of interest to all who care for the improvement and preservation of highways. In the course of his remarks Mr. Downing said:

A not very ready musician knows how tiresome it may be to compass a new tune and how easy to lapse into the old airs. And so with new ideas, policies or economies. The old idea is cherished, fondled and embraced until there is jealousy of the new.

SAMUEL R. DOWNING.

Thus, when an essayist points out that a macadam road is not a pike, that a macadam can be built for less than pikes have cost, that a macadam costs less for repair, and that it is the most economic road, some very good people will not so much as wrestle with the new saying, but, clinging to the old ideal, will argue that inasmuch as pikes are rough, macadams must be rough; inasmuch as pikes are built below frost, macadams must be so built; that inasmuch as the hand hammered pike has cost as much as $5,000 per mile, and, because of its coarse construction, $100 per mile annually for repair, that consequently a machine crusher, roller made macadam structure must cost the same ($5,000 per mile) for the making and the same ($100 per mile) for annual repair.

It is becoming usual to call pikes macadamized roads. A macadam road is not a pike, in that the macadam is infinitely better and less expensive than roads heretofore called pikes.

The imperfections of a pike are:

First—In that it is composed of loose stone in its making and repairing. Thus the pressure a pike receives from passing wheels deepens into ruts. A rut once made, although filled and refilled, will reappear.

Second—Pikes have been constructed of hammered stone. Hammered stone is too coarse for the best superstructure of roads. The originator of the macadam principle stated before a committee of the house of commons that a stone road was a saving of repair in ratio with the fineness of the stone used. Thus a bed of one inch stone would cost in repair of such bed but one-half of that of a bed of two inch stone.

Again, a pike composed of hand-broken stone may have cost $5,000 per mile for building, and $100 per mile annually for repair—$5,000 per mile for building, because the stone was hand-broken, at $1 per perch, and $100 annually for repair, because the superstructure was coarse and loose. Thus ruts are started and are expensive to erase. The experience of macadam builders teaches that a rut will follow a rut, that is if a stone bed is laid upon a rutted clay base ruts will appear in the stone bed directly over those of the clay foundation. Thus one rut in a pike is the predecessor of an endless series of ruts and an endless bill of costs.

On the other hand, a macadam structure avoids these imperfections of a pike in that (first) its superstructure is composed of small stone and stone siftings or chips, and (second) while wheels press the unknitted, loose surface of a pike, and resch solidity within one track at two inches below the general surface, thus forming ruts, the roller used in macadam structure does exactly what wheels do, but further, it presses the entire surface of the bed, so far as wheels can penetrate, in ruts, and thus makes the entire bed as solid as the base of a rut. Thus, again, a macadam is so uniformly resistant of wheel pressure that ruts cannot be produced in some macadam within a period probably of ten years.

A crusher turning out 80 perches of stone per day will earn in a day, at 15 cents per perch, $12, which will easily pay for the cost of running a crusher per day. The difference between $1 per perch for hand broken stone and 15 cents for crushed stone is 85 cents. In the realization of this gain of 85 cents by the use of a crusher we can reasonably conclude that a macadam ought to be built for less than half the cost of hammered pikes.

Then again, as to the economy of a macadam over that of a pike. A macadam being virtually rut and water proof, and continuing so for ten years, what will it cost to repair a macadam per mile annually during ten years? I think you will reply, really nothing.

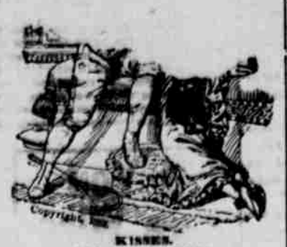
But will a macadam resist wheel pressure for, say, ten years? In answer we are furnished proof in an eight-year-old macadam leading from the Pennsylvania railroad freight and passenger station at Devon, Chester county. Mr. Charles Paiste, superintendent for the Devon Land company, tells me that this macadam has endured all the traffic from the railroad, being equal at times to two tons at a draft, and yet this macadam has not cost a cent for repair for eight years, and, as I saw for myself, has not as yet a rut. The question then arises, This macadam being as good as it was eight years ago, will it not endure eight years more without a cent for repair?

Prizes for Writers on Roads.

There are fewer subjects of greater importance before the people today than to make easier communication with markets. To aid in the discussion of this matter papers by competent writers are being called for and written. For instance, the University of Pennsylvania has offered prizes of $400, $200 and $100 for the best papers on the engineering, economic and legislative features of the construction, reconstruction and maintenance of roads. Other prizes have been offered by The Engineering and Building Record, of New York, of $150 for essays on the methods of construction and maintenance of good roads.—Exchange.

In the proclamation just issued by Gov. Beaver Friday, April 11 and May 2, 1890, have been designated as Arbor days. He says, "In those portions of the Commonwealth where the climate conditions are favorable the day first above named should be observed for tree planting and conducting such other exercises as have been usual or may be desirable in our schools and by the public generally. In the higher latitudes and more northerly latitudes of the Commonwealth the day last named can be observed." Gov. Beaver suggests the organization of village improvement, social and forestry associations.

The Scranton Truths says: It is now sixteen months since the terrible disaster at Mud Run hurled so many souls into eternity and maimed and disfigured others for life. Among the latter was Mary Cannon, of the Hampton, whose case is familiar to everybody, and who has the deep sympathy of all. Her injuries were fearful. A short time since Dr. Brady, of West Lackawanna avenue, enlisted his skill in her behalf and she is much improved by his care. The scalp and dermal covering of the forehead were burned away but have been entirely replaced by 160 applications of skin drafts taken from living persons. The young woman's eye sight was wholly lost, but she can now discover a hand moving before her face and may yet recover her lost vision. The case is creating intense interest. The replacement of the scalp has cured her of excruciating headaches that tormented her before.



KISSES.

(As in Romeo and Juliet.)

A prominent physician calls the kiss "an elegant demonstration of disease." He says, "Fever is spread by it, so are lung diseases." Out upon the puerile and sapless vagabond! Evidently kisses are not for such as he. And the old fox says the grapes are sour. Let him devote himself to making our women healthy and blooming that kisses may be sweet. This can surely be done by the use of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is simply magical in curing diseases peculiar to females. After taking it for a reasonable length of time there will be no more irregularity, backache, bearing-down sensations, nervous prostration, general debility and kindred ailments.

It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded.

A Book of 168 pages, on "Woman and Her Diseases, and their Self-cure," sent, post-paid, to any address, securely sealed in a plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents, in stamps.

Going Down to the Sea.

The accident to the City of Paris is of a kind to cause trembling to the people who go down to the sea in ships. She is of the latest type of marine architecture and fitted with every appliance for safety; yet she was only saved from going to the bottom by the the calmness of the seas and her nearness to port, which she reached just in time to find a safe resting place upon its shallow bottom. She was fitted with duplicate engines and screws, and she had a double bottom and bulkheads across and lengthwise, but all these supposed insurances of safety failed before the devastating crash of broken iron that crushed engines, bulkheads and bottom and left her helpless upon the sea and powerless of preservation through any power of her own. All of which shows again that man may propose but he cannot dispose; and tends to increase the ranks of our Presbyterian friends who believe that what will be will be, and that they are as safe without as with the insurances of science; though it is not to be disputed that the most of these good people are ready to take the insurances, notwithstanding their faith.

The surprise about these accidents to ocean steamers is not that they occur, but they do not happen oftener. Driven at the highest speed, and with so many parts liable to break with the enormous strain put upon them in the struggle through raging seas, it must be an ever present realization by those abroad that they are in constant danger of disaster. The infrequency of it causes a courage to which such incidents as this, when they come, give a lively shock. And doubtless there would be greater shocks if we heard of all the accidents that occur. Ship officers realize this and are studious in concealing everything that happens that is likely to alarm the timid.—Ex.

Poison Oak.

The following extract, taken from a letter written by Mr. E. A. Bell, fully explains itself:

While surveying land in 1883 I accidently handled poison oak vine, and in less than three hours (the eruption usually resulting from such contact begins in ten days) my face was swollen and disfigured, and my hands and arms seriously affected. I immediately began taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and after taking three large bottles I found all signs of the breaking out entirely removed. I was led to suspect its return at the same time next year, but it did not, nor has there been any indications of its return since.

My little boy, eight years old, was afflicted with the same poison 1884. After taking several bottles of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) the eruption entirely disappeared. A very slight form of the eruption returned during the next spring, but we then resumed the S. S. S. and having taken enough during that season to make the cure permanent, he has not since had any return of the disease. Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) certainly effected thorough cures in both these cases, and I regard it as a most effective remedy for all such diseases.

Swindling Farmers.

A NEW DEVICE FOR OBTAINING THEIR SIGNATURES TO PROMISSORY NOTES.

A neat and ingenious device for swindling farmers has lately been put in practice in the interior of the state. A stranger called upon a well-to-do farmer of the town of Coventry and exhibited a ploughshare, which he claimed to be of an improved pattern over old styles, doing its work better and with easier draught. He was introducing the ploughshare, he said, as the agent for a Buffalo agricultural machine warehouse. He offered to leave a ploughshare with the farmer on trial if satisfactory, a stipulated price was to be remitted to the Buffalo house, and the farmer was to recommend the new tool to his neighbors. If not satisfactory, the ploughshare should cost the farmer nothing.

The proposition appeared so fair that the Coventry man accepted it, and as a matter of form, the agent said, signed his name to a memorandum of the agreement, which the agent wrote out on the spot with a fountain pen that he produced from his pocket. A few days later the farmer was amazed by the presentation for payment of his note of hand for $250. The note was presented by a neighbor, to whom the agent had sold it, with a plausible explanation and at a slight discount. At first the victimized farmer indignantly pronounced the signature a forgery, but a revived recollection of his deal with the plowshare agent and a closer inspection of the handwriting satisfied him that the signature was his own.

How did the sharper work the trick? The accepted theory is that he wrote out the contract with an ink that soon faded out, and then substituted for the farmer's use in signing the document another fountain pen filled with common ink. The trick gave him, after the fading out process was completed, a piece of paper free of any mark except the genuine signature, which he converted into a promissory note. There is no concern in Buffalo doing business under the firm name given by the sharper.

"Every Spring."

Says one of the best housewives of New England. "We feel the necessity of taking a good medicine to purify the blood, and we all take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It keeps the children free from humors, my husband says it gives him a good appetite, and for myself I am sure I could never do all my work if it was not for this splendid medicine. It makes me feel strong and cheerful, and I am never troubled with headache or that tired feeling, as I used to be."

What Choir Singers are Paid.

A soprano, in an average city, will be paid, as a beginner, anywhere from $200 to $300 per annum. As she becomes better known, and is in more thorough command of her voice, she will average from $500 to $800. Boston pays about $200 per annum better to choir singers than any other city in my knowledge. Several sopranos there receive yearly salaries of $1000 and $1200, and a few $1500.

A woman with a good contralto voice will begin at an annual salary of $200 which, if she is successful, may rise to any average of $300. There are two churches in Philadelphia, I believe, which pay their contraltos $400; but this, in cities outside of Boston, which as with sopranos, average about $200 higher, is unusual. And even a genuine alto—that rarest of things in these days—will command but from $300 to $400 per annum. The Hub, of course, does better than this, by adding $200; but even with this addition none of these salaries appear precisely extravagant, or to admit of much luxury in living, and salaries are rarely increased. Should a rival church make an offer for a voice, if the first church is desirous of retaining it, the rival's price is overbid, and the voice retained.

But this is the only reason, of which I have knowledge, for increasing salaries. However, it must be remembered that this salary is paid for singing only at two services, and for attendance at one or two rehearsals a week. All the rest of the singer's time is her own to dispose of as she pleases. Prove she an apt pupil to her new master, he will send to her, for instruction, scholars whom he has not the time to teach. Or she may secure engagements to sing at different church concerts, or, laying aside her music, may take to sewing, painting, decorating, or any of the many ways in which girls are able to make a living. No work must be undertaken which will in any way conflict with the choir singing, for this, remember, is the reason of her existence. She is first and before all else a singer; that is her profession. Let this never be forgotten.—E. ALINE OSGOOD, in Ladies' Home Journal.

The Standard

"I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla as having passed above the grade of what are commonly called patent or proprietary medicines," said a well known physician recently. "It is fully entitled to be a standard medicine, and has won this position by its undoubted merits and by the many remarkable cures it has effected. For an alterative and tonic it has never been equalled."

Pennsylvania still maintains its position as the "banner department" of the Grand Army of the Republic The membership is little short of 48,000 at present.
